

Stefano Caserini

Stefano Caserini is professor of Climate Change Mitigation at Politecnico di Milano. He is principally involved in assessment of scenarios, and technologies for the reduction of atmospheric pollutants and climate altering emissions. He's long been active in divulgation activity on climate change, and he has founded, and coordinates the blog Climalteranti.it. He is co-director of the journal "Ingegneria dell'Ambiente".